

Targeted removal collapses the network within ten families; random removal degrades linearly

